

I Love Spring

Emily Howarth

Spring is right around the corner. I can see it and smell it! The long awaited blossoms and flower buds will be popping up around us. I love when the daffodils and tulips start popping up through the ground that has been frozen for so long. The beautiful trees full of color!

Here in Utah we can expect snow until when...July? However, these hearty flowers persevere through the late snowstorms and we have beautiful pops of colors with the snow. The snow then melts away to give us pops of green grass that we have been missing through their hibernation of winter.

It seems like in spring everything awakens and develops. Nature becomes bright and colorful again. I am sure this change in nature from hibernation to wakefulness has its effect on everyone. I am not an exception. I get so excited and become more awake myself. I start planning more and more outside to enjoy the warmer days and beautiful flowers all around us, and of course for me more trips to the surrounding mountains which have been my playground since I was little.

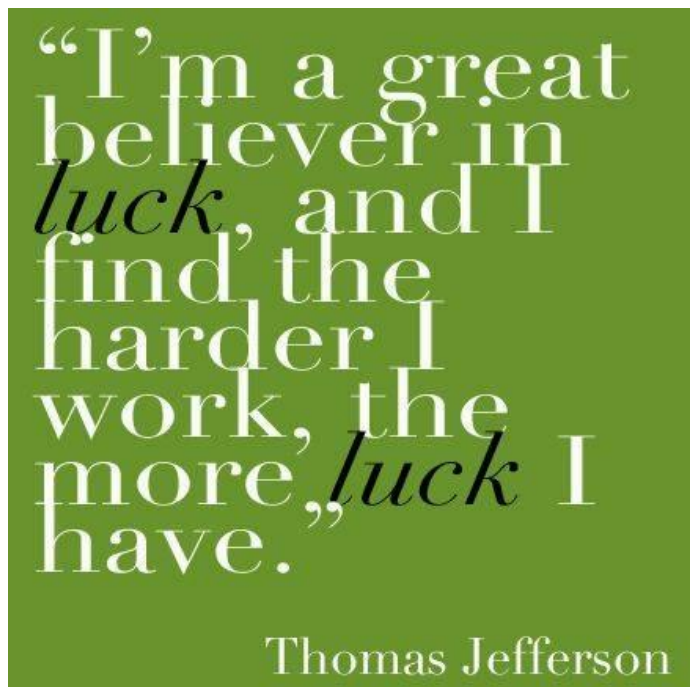

The weather in Utah seems to be crazy in the springtime. My son Nathan plays Lacrosse in the spring. I never know how to prepare for the weather for these games. One moment it is sunny and we are applying sunscreen, another second we are zipping up our winter coats, the next donning rain coats, the next it's a blizzard...all the while we haven't made it to half time of the game it. However, I think even with this madness of springtime weather it rejuvenates us and awakens us.

I hope you all take time to stop and smell the new flowers and all the blossoms of spring.

#10 Government Grant Scam

In the most common Grant scam, the consumer will receive an unsolicited phone call from a con artist claiming that they are from the "Federal Grants Administration" or the "Federal Grants Department" neither of which exists. In other versions of this scam scammers place advertisements in the classified section of the local newspapers offering "free grants," and will request that victims wire money for processing fees or taxes before the money can be sent to them.

Tips from <http://www.fraud.org/scams/telemarketing/government-grants>

The National Consumer League has published the following tips for consumers to avoid falling victim to a federal grant scam:

- Do not give out your bank account information to anyone you do not know. Scammers pressure people to divulge their bank account information so that they can steal the money in the account. Do not share bank account information unless you are familiar with the company and know why the information is necessary.
- Government grants are made for specific purposes, not just because someone is a good taxpayer. They also require an application process; they are not simply given over the phone. Most government grants are awarded to states, cities, schools, and nonprofit organization to help provide services or fund research projects. Grants to individuals are typically for things like college expenses or disaster relief.
- Government grants never require fees of any kind. You might have to provide financial information to prove that you qualify for a government grant, but you never have to pay to get one.

Hello! All I wanted to inform you of our resident referral program it is a win- win scenario! The win for you is after they are here for 60 days you get a free month's rent! The win for them is they get a 1000-dollar credit to use towards their rent or community fee! For more information please see either Tyler or Emily! Thank you! We are looking forward to meeting your friends!

This is Eric, your maintenance director. Welcome to March! That means spring is just around the corner, hopefully! Not much to report, I think most areas are up and running well but please let us know if you have any problems. Just a reminder that the time change is Saturday, Feb 7 (you spring forward 1 hr.) Let us know if you need help setting clocks or your microwave to the new time! Also, enjoy some green eggs and ham and your corn beef and cabbage! My daughter turns 10 this month! "Happy birthday Chloe!"

"March came in that winter like the meekest and mildest of lambs, bringing days that were crisp and golden and tingling..."
